

2021 SOUTHEASTERN REGIONAL LOGGER of the YEAR

SWPA is proud to announce that Gray Logging, LLC of Madison, Florida was awarded Forest Resources Association’s Southeastern Regional Logger of the Year for 2021. Jerry Gray, owner of Gray Logging, LLC, accepted this impressive award on April 13th through a Zoom meeting hosted by FRA. The southeastern region includes the states of Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Eastern North Carolina, and Eastern Virginia.

Jerry has been a member of SWPA for many years and is currently the Vice-President of our organization. He is also a member of the Florida Forestry Association and the American Logger’s Council. Jerry is a visionary leader in the timber industry and is passionate about bringing awareness to the benefits of wood products as a sustainable natural resource.

Throughout his 40 plus years in logging, Jerry and Gray Logging, LLC have won numerous awards and honors. In 2010, Gray Logging was Florida’s Logger of the Year and FRA’s Southeastern Regional Logger of the Year in 2011. Now, 10 years later, Gray Logging is competing for the National Logger of the Year which will be announced this May at FRA’s Annual meeting. SWPA wishes Jerry and Gray Logging the best of luck during the final phase of this competition.

From Left to right: Jerry Gray, grandson Garrison Webb, Ginger Gray, granddaughter Hannah Light, grandson Benaiah Light, and granddaughter Jael Webb.